FARMERS OF TWO STATES GATHERED IN GREENSBORO

Representatives of Over Ten Thousand Tobacco Farmers Here to Decide On Plans For Disposing of Tobacco Crops—Welcome Addresses

Gathered in the city are between six hundred and a thousand farmers, representing more than ten thousand tobacco growers of North Carolina and Virginia, the object of the meeting being to decide on the disposition of this year's tobacco crop. The gathering is a representative one and each delegate is here for the purpose of doing what he thinks is best for the interests of those he represents. The sessions will continue through this evening and tomorrow, the definite date of adjournment not being fixed.

A preliminary meeting was held this morning, at which time a committee was appointed to draft and lay before the convention plans for the disposition of the tobacco crop. This committee was ready to report at the afternoon session as soon as the formal opening was concluded. The morning session was attended by several hundred, but as the majority of the delegates did not arrive until noon nothing was done, further than the appointment of the above mentioned committee and short talks. National President Charles S. Barrett took occasion to inform those present of the workings of the union and what it has accomplished for the cotton and wheat producers. He felt sure, he said, that the tobacco growers would be benefited likewise if they would unite to prevent the trusts from monopolizing their products and fixing their own prices.

The afternoon session began at two o'clock C. Gordon, vice president of the Virginia Union, presiding. After calling the meeting to order he introduced Mayor Thomas J. Murphy who made the welcome address in behalf of the city.

Mayor Murphy's Address.

Mayor Murphy extended a brief, but cordial welcome to the farmers and expressed the desire that their meeting together here would mean much for their welfare in the future. He said in part: "We realize the importance of our guests on this occasion, for the intelligent farmer and planter whose calling and occupation has been honored since the beginning of time, though he may have lagged behind his brethren of the trades and professions in recent years, is fast coming to the front now along all lines of scientific, educational and economic progress. And the people of the present day are demanding that scientific farming and economic training shall be taught in the public schools as well as in many of the colleges and that our lawmakers shall enact laws to protect all people against the grinding greed of monopolies and trusts; the result of which will be the extraction of countless millions of wealth from the earth annually and its proper distribution among the people generally instead of among a few capitalists. And I make bold to say that there is no section of the globe that will yield more bountifully to the touch of the educated cultivator than the soil of Virginia and the Carolinas."

He then spoke of the prosperous section of the State, including Guilford and adjoining counties, and the efficient manner in which the farmers were working the soil. He also spoke of the spirit of co-operation that exists between the country and city, both farmers and citizens of the city realizing that one could not exist without the other. He referred in closing to the commission form of government and the advantage the people living under this form of government have over those living under the old form. "Again, I extend to you a most hearty welcome and throw open wide the door of hospitality," said Mayor Murphy in closing.

Mr. Broadhurst's Address.

Mr. Broadhurst said: "Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Convention: "Every man here at some time in his life has been forced by the rules of common courtesy to listen to that type of public speaker who seemed to feel it his bounden duty to flatter and cajole the farmers of this country by attempting to make his hearers believe that he thought the farmer to be the richest, happiest, freest and most independent class of our complex citizenship. All of which may be literally true. But as a

WESTERN BANKS HOLD MUCH MONEY

Those in Western Part of State are well Supplied With Cash.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, Aug. 25.—Commenting on visitations made the past few weeks to many banks in the western section of the state for a regular round of examinations state bank examiners declare that Western Carolina banks are better supplied with money than they have been for a long while, this being evidently due to not only a steady and healthy growth of commercial business, but also to the unusually large influx of tourists who have flocked to the mountain resorts this season. This phase of business in the west is something immense this time and the effect on the financial status of these sections is most helpful. The examiners say that the condition of the banks the state over can be said to be very much better than a year ago and the improvement seems steady and permanent.

FRANCE DELIVERS HER ULTIMATUM IN MOROCCAN AFFAIR

Paris, Aug. 25.—France today took her last stand in the Moroccan affair. The Cabinet upheld the course of the government in the negotiations. The instructions sent to the French minister at Berlin contain the maximum terms France is willing to offer Germany. The meeting was characterized by a realization of the gravity of the situation, as it was realized that a portentous step was being taken.

ANTI-JEWISH RIOTING CONTINUES

Cardiff, Wales, Aug. 25.—The race rioting in Wales, involving the Jews, continues and with greater fury than on yesterday. In a fierce battle between soldiers and a mob engaged in destroying Jewish property in this city, a large number of persons were injured.

PINCHOT FOR ALASKA

Will Accompany Poindexter In Tour Of Inspection.

Washington, Aug. 25.—To obtain first-hand information on which to base a campaign for constructive legislation for Alaska, Senator Miles Poindexter, (Rep., Washington,) and Gifford Pinchot, the former forester, will shortly make a trip through that territory. In leaving Washington today Pinchot made this announcement. He said Poindexter would join him at Seattle, and the two would go over much of the territory that has been in dispute in various Alaskan conservation controversies.

Poindexter is anxious to view the land around Controller Bay, where the alleged grab was made by Richard Ryan. Pinchot goes to assist the Senator, and to gather material for a program of legislation which the National Conservation Association will urge upon Congress next session.

How Soldiers and Police Guarded Food Wagons To Prevent Famine In the Great Britain Strike

Photos copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

One of the chief dangers in the Great Britain strike was the menace of famine. The interruption in train service made the transportation of food supplies to the different cities a serious question. Bodies of soldiers and police were employed to guard the food wagons. The strikers were in the habit of gathering in great groups, and that there was not more serious rioting was due to the fact that 50,000 troops were on duty.

PEACE CONFERENCE FAILED; STRIKE IS IMMINENT

Chicago, Ills., Aug. 25.—A peace conference was held today between officials of the Harriman railway lines and the labor unions, but the conference failed of its purpose. It is almost certain that 25,000 mechanics will go on strike.

Notice.
The Socialists will have a speaking at Morrison's grocery store, near Five Points, at eight o'clock this evening.

COMMISSIONERS FIX CIRCUS LICENSE

The Board of County Commissioners held a special meeting late yesterday afternoon at which time it was decided to fix the license taxes on circuses at $200 for each day the exhibition is given in the county and $25 on each side show carried by a circus giving a performance in the county.

It is understood that the Barnum and Bailey circus will give a performance in the city the latter part of October. Heretofore it has been optional with the commissioners whether a circus should enter a county, but this right has been taken from the commissioners. The law makes the State tax $300 on the circus and $25 on each side show, making it optional with the county to impose a county tax not exceeding this amount. The action of the commissioners makes the tax two-thirds the maximum amount for the circus and the full amount for each side show.

FINAL SESSION OF NURSERYMEN WAS HELD LAST NIGHT

The final session of the Southern Nurserymen's Association was held last night, all the business being disposed of and the question box rifled. The night session was entered with zest, the delegates having been greatly refreshed by an inspection tour of the Young and Lindley nurseries, near the city, late in the afternoon.

During the session just closed, which was a decided success in every particular, many subjects of importance to all nurserymen have been discussed in detail and each delegate carried away a store of useful information that can be of practical value in the future work.

SECRETARY FISHER CAUGHT IN STORM

Cordova, Alaska, Aug. 25.—Secretary of the Interior Fisher is now cut off from all communication with this place. He is making an inspection tour of the country and his isolation was caused by the terrific storm which broke over this section yesterday. While serious results are not expected for the Secretary and his party, there is cause for alarm at their absence at this time.

G. A. R. CANDIDATE EFFECTUALLY KNOCKED OUT FOR COMMANDER

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 25.—The final day of the G. A. R. convention opened with a business session. A committee reported that Colonel John McElroy, of Washington, D. C., candidate for Commander in Chief, had purchased a collection of war stories from William Hineman, originally published by Hineman, and had published these stories, naming himself (McElroy) as the author. This report is recognized as having destroyed all chances of McElroy winning the high office.

RETAILER TO STREETS FOR EIGHT MONTHS

Several cases were on the docket when Judge Eure convened Municipal Court this morning and the session lasted for more than an hour. However, none of the cases were of more than passing importance.

Jim Tate was found guilty of retailing and Judge Eure dispatched him to the city streets for a period of eight months. Alex Whitfield was fined $7.50 and the costs for being drunk.

Doak Wade was acquitted of the charge of larceny. In another case, charging him with assault with a deadly weapon he was fined $10 and costs. Rachel Wade and Sallie Wade were charged with assault, but were acquitted. This case was made more interesting than it would have been because of the fact that each of the defendants were represented by Major Charles M. Stegman, who has just returned from Washington where he served this district in Congress.

LORIMER SEEKS VINDICATION

Takes Stump For Yates—Hopes To Aid Cullom.

Duquoin, Ill., Aug. 25.—Senator William Lorimer, after months of silence in the face of charges of moral turpitude in securing his election to the United States Senate, today began an active campaign for popular vindication at the big Southern Illinois soldiers' and sailors' reunion here. It is declared that the practical side of Lorimer's attempt to vindicate himself will be an effort to nominate Richard Yates for Governor and to elect sufficient Lorimerites to the next Legislature to hold at least balance of power in the Senatorial election involving the seat of Senator Cullom.

ENGLISH STRIKERS RETURN TO WORK; LONDON IS QUIET

Liverpool, Aug. 25.—The military guards which have been patrolling the city since the beginning of the strike were removed today. The city is tranquil and traffic is normal. SALOON DOORS WILL SWING IN ALABAMA'S CHIEF CITY

Jefferson County Votes To Return to Legal Sale of Liquor by Licensed Saloons.

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 25.—Jefferson county yesterday voted to return to the legal sale of liquor by licensed saloons by a majority which may go above 2,000. The return began to come early and the dispensary showed a small lead in some of the country precincts but by the time twenty precincts had been heard from saloons were ahead of dispensaries by 100. This ratio was maintained until the city boxes began to come in which rapidly swelled the saloons majority.

The voters also passed on the question, wet or dry, but there was never any doubt of the county's going wet. The issue was really between saloons and dispensaries.

Jefferson county first voted on the prohibition question October 28, 1907, when prohibition carried by a majority of 1,396.

BIG CLASS OF LAWYERS WILL TAKE EXAMINATIONS

Thirty-Four From Wake Forest Alone—Supreme Court Convenes Monday.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, Aug. 25.—The opening of the fall term of the Supreme Court Monday promises to be a record-breaker in several respects. The number of applicants for license to practice law promises to be exceptionally large, there being already 34 registered for the examination from Wake Forest College law school. The University class will be probably as large or larger and Trinity and other colleges will have their usual contributions so that the indications are for eighty or one hundred to undertake the examination, the questions for which have been completed and printed ready to be propounded to the boys Monday.

Furthermore there are thirty appeals docketed for the First district to be called Tuesday morning, far more than has ever been known to come from the First district before. The counties comprising the district are Beaufort, Currituck, Camden, Pasquotank, Perquimans, Chowan, Gates, Washington, Tyrrell, Hyde and Dare.

MORE ABOUT THE FLEMING ESTRANGEMENT.

Special to Telegram.
Raleigh, Aug. 25.—Following her suit for divorce filed yesterday by Mrs. Nelle Claire Fleming against her husband, Percy B. Fleming that came close on the heels of the habeas corpus proceeding for the possession of the two children last week, Mrs. Fleming has filed notice summons in a suit involving the Fleming residence on North Blount street, her purpose being to protect her dower rights in this pending a threatened sale of the property. The suit is against Percy B. Fleming, W. H. Pace, and a real estate agency through which Percy B. Fleming is about to close a sale to Pace for $6,000. Before the habeas corpus contest Mrs. Fleming had consented to the sale, but the deal has been delayed on account of his having to take treatment in Greensboro for drinking habit. Now she notifies Pace that she withdraws her consent and refuses to allow the completion of the deal.

ANDERSON MILLS STOP WORK

Two Forced To Shut Down Owing To Low Stage of Water In River.

Anderson, S. C., Aug. 25.—Two of the largest cotton mills in upper Carolina—the Anderson and Orr plants of this city—were forced to shut down this afternoon because of the very low stage of water in the river here. Reports from several parts of the Piedmont district of South Carolina indicated today that the drought and resulting all-off in the water stage in several rivers and streams are forcing manufacturers to run on half time. Power plants on the Savannah and Tugal rivers are now producing only 4,000 horsepower, just half the normal, and unless conditions improve it is said they may close altogether.

Creeks and wells in this vicinity have failed, so that the authorities are now facing the problem of keeping up the drinking water supply.

Crops in Anderson county, which last year raised more cotton than any other county east of the Mississippi river, are greatly affected. Some farmers say their cotton crops have deteriorated 40 to 50 per cent. in the last two weeks from the drought.

DISCUSSING CITY MARKET IN SPARTANBURG.

For some time The Telegram has been discussing the city market idea, as it is being worked out in other cities, and endeavoring to arouse some interest in the matter here. The newspapers of the State and of adjoining States, we notice, are taking up this question for discussion and asking if the central market or city market idea movement is in the interest of the consumers. The consensus of opinion appears to be that it is. One of the cities in which the market question is being talked about is Spartanburg, and a recent number of the Herald has this to say in regard to the matter:

"Spartanburg is somewhat given to spasmodic discussion of the question of establishing a central city market. It is a good thing, and we should have it, we all agree, but up to this good day no one has come along with sufficient energy to carry the project on to realization.

"In those cities where there are well kept city markets the cost of living is less than in cities where the shoppers are made to search over the whole town before completing their day's purchases. And the living is better, for a market once established attracts those with the best products for sale, and the housewife soon learns that the best is to be had at the market. And, again, the central market makes the paying of cash for one's table supplies easier and much more satisfactory. Marketing becomes a pleasure, and not a burden to the housekeepers in cities where central markets are maintained.

"Spartanburg should have a market, and the only way to get it is to establish it, and not talk so much about doing it."

Congress can and will come back.

The Columbia State notes the fact that some of those who marry in haste repent at Reno.

It seems that the Weather Man is going to give the populace a chance to speak an early good bye to summer.

Only a little while now and the newspapers will be advising the people to do their Christmas shopping early.

It is a little early yet, but it will soon be time to begin to save money for Christmas.

The harem skirt was never a success at setting the pace for fashionable people in this country, and it is said that it has been retired to harmless disuse.

The Democrats have captured the goat of the Republican party and this highly prized animal appears to have been carried away for keeps.

The Wilmington Dispatch has heard that Governor Kitchin is going on the war path. The opinion is based on the fact that the Governor is going to make a speech to the Red Men of this city.

The Hickory Times-Mercury advises that the knockers be swatted. This indicates that even in a town as live as Hickory the knocker has his abiding place.

It is said some of the manufacturers of soft drinks are going to have trouble when the pure food and drugs law is enforced in their cases, and that the matter is likely to go hard with them.

Congress having adjourned the enemies of Governor and Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia may cease from troubling. Doubtless when the regular session convenes the Governor will be ready to drop his present office and begin his term as Senator.

A majority of the members of the jury selected to try Henry Clay Beattie are farmers. As a rule, farmers do not look with approval upon the careers of men who belong to the Beattie class, so it seems that the odds are against Beattie from the start. It is not to be supposed that the jury will convict him without evidence, on account of prejudice, but it is probable that if there is any evidence to sustain the charge Beattie will be convicted, unless a mistrial results. If the State makes out the strong case against him which it promises to do, he will undoubtedly not be cleared of the charge of murder.

There is not among our distinguished men another so well preserved author, diplomat and statesman in the United States as the veteran New York Democrat, Hon. John Bigelow, now in his ninety-fourth year. He reads without glasses; his hearing is good, and his mind alert. In a late interview Mr. Bigelow, who still keeps in close touch with public affairs, declared: "Nobody is making any money in this country today except the favored few whom the tariff enriches so enormously. We are building the structure of our industrial life with untempered mortar." He added: "The tariff is war. A tariff upon foreign imports provokes reprisals as naturally as predatory encroachments upon foreign territory, for it is equally wanton appropriation of another nation's property." After more than forty years of tariff debauchery the evil consequences have become so apparent that the country is ready to swing back to the revenue policy abandoned as the result of civil war, says the Philadelphia Record.

WOMAN CLIMBS A FENCE.

Takes Short Cut to Catch Train at Tarrytown, and is Cheered.

Railroad fences are no obstacle to a New York woman when she wants to catch a train. This was demonstrated yesterday afternoon when a well-dressed, middle-aged woman, with her arms full of packages, ran down the tracks as the 3:05 train came into the station and called to Remsen Anthony, the doorman, asking if the train went to New York.

"Yes, madam," replied Anthony. "You must cross the bridge."

The woman saw the bridge, and she also saw a shorter route over the fence and made for it. Dropping her bundles, she climbed the fence while Anthony and the crowd at the station gazed in amazement. Anthony ran out and gallantly handed her the packages she had dropped.

"Didn't I do it gracefully?" she asked. "Just as well as any man could do it," Anthony replied.

The conductor saw the woman coming and he thought such a brave attempt to catch a train should be rewarded, and he held the train for her. As she stepped aboard the passengers gave her a cheer.—Tarrytown Dispatch in New York Times.

THE STOLEN PICTURE.

"Mona Lisa" was the Richest Art Treasure of All the Collection in Famous Louvre.

The "Mona Lisa" was the richest art treasure of the Louvre. Among all the paintings in Europe, dealers placed it second only in value to the Sistine Madonna. At one time it was rumored that an offer of $1,000,000, made for it by the British government, had been refused by France. Fears for the safety of such a picture were always rife, and in 1907, when a young woman, frantic, had slashed a picture by Ingres in the Louvre, the authorities put the "Mona Lisa" behind glass. There were instant protests from art lovers the world over and the glass was removed.

The greater number of the comparatively few finished paintings left by Leonardo da Vinci have been lost. Of his masterpieces, "The Last Supper," on a wall of the refectory in the Monastery of Santa Maria delle Grazie, Milan, nothing remains but a few crumbling patches of color. This left the "Mona Lisa" the finest surviving example of one of the great masters of the high Renaissance, and it was perhaps more famous than any other portrait in the world.

The subject of the portrait was Maddalena Lisa del Giocondo, wife of the Florentine Francesco del Giocondo. Leonardo is said to have worked on it during four years, from 1502 to 1506, and to have pronounced it uncompleted when he stopped. In order to bring upon the face of the sitter that strange smile for which he was striving he had recourse to musicians, who by playing certain music in the lady's presence could evoke the desired expression. He was compelled to work from the briefest sittings in order that the effect of the music might not wear off with repetition.

Dr. Arthur Mahler describes the painting thus:

"That which strikes us is the mobility in the apparently immovable figure. Mona Lisa is seated in a chair, on the left arm of which she leans and lightly rests an arm. Her long, narrow eyes seem on the point of languorously closing, the corners of the mouth are a little raised and there is a mysterious and indescribable smile upon the lips. Leonardo was the first artist able in painting to render the texture and suppleness of the skin. A stone balustrade separates the figure from the landscape and serves to incline it toward the spectator, at the same time leaving it connected with the background. Many and deep are the distances which we see in those blue mountains, and it is a landscape of fantastic dream-land far beyond our reach, for the little bridge is to indicate distance, and seems to lead to other worlds."

It was her smile for which Mona Lisa was famous—the smile which has held the poets and artists 400 years and which they have described in a thousand ways. A celebrated passage of Walter Pater's "Renaissance" gave his interpretation, a rhapsody in perfect prose. Critics equal to Pater for discernment, but not for literary style, have acknowledged their failure to find in the portrait the mysteries of which he wrote so magically.

George Vasari, describing the "Mona Lisa" 40 years after it was painted, speaks of the vivid red of the lips and the carnation hue upon the cheeks. These have vanished and a gray groundwork showing through the thin surface pigments has given a curious pallor to the flesh of the face and the wonderfully painted hands. When the picture was restored the colors were not re-enlivened, though Pater considered the restoration entirely satisfactory. No eyebrows are visible, and this had been thought by some critics to be an effect of the raggedness of time upon the portrait. The more probable explanation is the known practice among the early Florentine ladies of plucking out the eyebrow hairs for the sake of beauty.

Other names given to the picture are "a Gioconda" and "La Joconde," derived from the surname of the subject.

The "Mona Lisa" was numbered 1,601 in the Louvre, and hung among the early Italian masters at the right of the entrance in the salle carree.

Last winter a controversy arose as to whether the "Mona Lisa" in the Louvre or a copy in the Prado at Madrid was the genuine picture. Spanish critics writing to the newspapers held that the genuine one was in the Prado. Dr. Wilhelm Bode, director of the Royal Museum, at Berlin, appeared in print with a lengthy refutation of this claim.—New York Sun.

STRANGE SIBERIAN HOUSES.

One Enters by a Hole in the Roof and Climbs Down a Pole.

There are many kinds of queer houses in the world, but for difficulty of ingress and egress the huts of some Siberian fur hunters, Koryaks by name, take the palm.

From a distance these houses have the appearance of huge funnels rising out of a snowbank. The craterlike tip of the house, besides forming a roof, is used as a general storage place for food and all sorts of articles. This slopes downward to an aperture in the centre which serves as a smoke hole, ventilator and passage-way below.

A number of logs arranged in a circle support the rickety framework of the roof, the lower end of which rests on a secondary pile of timbers forming the walls of the living quarters. For nearly nine months the whole house is covered up to the projecting roof with tons of snow, chinked in with frozen earth and debris, the inmates being about ten feet below the surface.

The most peculiar feature of the house, according to Fur News, is the means of entrance. This is accomplished by scaling in a narrow split log, having holes cut in for the feet and hands, which extends down from the roof at an angle of at least 90 degrees. Getting inside is a feat which none but the experienced native can accomplish with comfort.

The interior is reached by descending another perpendicular tree log stairway, the holes being covered with a slippery coating of grease and soot. A misplaced step by any visiting white fur trader or agent would result in his landing in a pot of blubber always kept boiling at the base.

The whole enclosure has a ground floor and is barren of anything in the shape of furniture. A large vessel for cooking seal and blubber and a kettle used for melting snow are the chief household utensils. The diet is limited almost exclusively to raw and half-cooked seal and whale flesh, with Russian brick tea and American tobacco as an extra luxury.

Before entering one of these Arctic households it is customary for the white visitor or trader to send word ahead prior to his arrival. On reaching the house he will usually find assembled on the roof awaiting him the host and all his family, including dogs. Dogs play an important part in their primitive religion and are thought to be a potent agency for keeping away evil spirits and bringing good luck in the hunting of fur animals. For this reason the stuffed form of a dog is always kept dangling from the rooftop of the house.

DYNAMITE KILLS TWO MINERS.

Six Others Probably Fatally Hurt in Mysterious Explosion.

Middlesboro, Ky., Aug. 25.—Two Italians were killed and six probably fatally wounded in an explosion at Bonham, Harlan county, at the works of the Wisconsin Steel Company today. The Italians were opening up mines for the company. A large quantity of dynamite was exploded from some cause not known. A number of others were seriously injured. Bonham is at the head of the new extension of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, and there the Wisconsin Steel Company is putting in a coal and coking plant.

INTERNATIONAL AVIATION MEET BEGINS TOMORROW

Contests Continue for Ten Days—World's Most Famous Aviators Will Fly—Program of Events and List of Prizes.

Special to Telegram.

Boston, Aug. 25.—In features of special interest to the world of aviation, the international meet that begins at the course at Atlantic tomorrow is expected to surpass anything ever before held in this country. The meet will continue for ten days, culminating in a big cross-country race through three States on Labor Day, a week from next Monday.

The feature of chief importance is the coming together of Curtis, Grahame-White and Weymann, winners of the coupe internationale during the last three years. Several events especially for women aviators, with four of the most prominent aerial representatives of the fair sex competing, will be another magnet that will attract thousands to the big aviation field.

The exodus from Boston to the suburb today to see the flyers in their practice flights bore prophecy to the tremendous crowds that are looked for on the morrow, and exhaustive preparations have been made, so that fully a hundred thousand persons can be conveyed to the scene of the meet and accommodated in the vast grand stand and the natural amphitheatre of hills that surround the course.

Practically all of the air men here grasped the opportunity today to have a last final workout with their craft to get them in perfect shape for the trials of aerial prowess. Members of the National Guard were kept busy holding back the crowds eager to press up and have a close view of the aviators, who tinkered with the engines and other parts of their machines.

The prizes, totaling more than $50,000 are offered for a tremendous variety of feats. Quick-starting and stopping, altitude, speed, distance and duration are among the events in which the world's famous flyers will vie in their strife for glory and trophies.

Claude Grahame-White, the young Englishman who won the international cup at Belmont Park last year, was out at the field today with his fiancée, Miss Marie Campbell of New York.

When asked as to the date of their wedding, the youthful birdman smiled serenely, first at his sweetheart and then at the interviewer. Tomorrow's contest will witness him in flight for the first time in America since his victory last year.

Glenn Curtiss, who brought the cup to America by virtue of his triumph at Rheims in 1909, has not flown in a regularly scheduled meet for over a year, and his performances are being looked forward to with eager anticipation.

Charles Weyman, the other international champion, who brings back with him to the United States the honors taken away by Grahame-White, complete the famous trio of world's champion speed flyers.

But there is also the champion long-distance aviator, Harry N. Atwood, a native son of Boston, and student at Harvard, and this youngster is expected to get "a hand" from his home worshippers exceeding even the ovations accorded those of greater international fame. He is one of the favorites to win the Labor Day interstate flight.

This race, which will be Boston to Nashua, N. H., Worcester, Mass., Providence, R. I., and back to Boston, will be the blue-ribbon contest of the meet, and it promises to produce a new world's record for cross-country races ever its distance. Besides Atwood, there are entered for this event Lincoln Beachy, who flew from Niagara Falls; Maurice Tabuteau, the great Frenchman; Earl Oving-

Republic in Peril.

The stability of our institutions must depend upon the honesty and patriotism of our people. No form of government will save the country from ultimate downfall if the people in whom the power to govern is vested are venal and corrupt. Late developments in some of the States indicate widespread corruption and buying of votes in some localities. If this kind of corruption has become general throughout the country, then indeed is this republic in deadly peril of ultimate dissolution.

The interests and the men who have cultivated this tendency to bribery and corruption are traitors to their country and should be hunted down and severely punished in every community where the votes are bought.

It was with mortification that we found Senator Simmons of this State voting to clear Senator Lorimer of the corruption with which that Illinois politician has been connected.

Senator Simmons will have another chance to vote on Lorimer. If he still clings to Bailey of Texas, and votes to let Lorimer retain the seat which is dishonored by him, The Sentinel will deem itself bound to oppose Mr. Simmons for re-election.—Winston Sentinel.

ton, Cromwell Dixon, J. A. D. McCurdy, Charlie Willard and Hamilton, Curtiss flyers; Tommy Sopwith, of England; Joe Cummings and Possibly Jules Vedrines, the Frenchman who won the Paris-Madrid race. No reply has been received to telegrams to Vedrines during the last few days, and it is not known whether he will arrive here on time for the race or not. His presence is all that is needed to make it a battle for world supremacy over the distance.

The women's race will be the first international contest for members of the fair sex ever held anywhere. The contestants will be Mlle. Helene Detrieux, representing France; Mrs. "Jimmie" Martin, of England, and Mrs. Charles Foster Willard, wife of the Curtiss aviator, and Miss Harriett Quimby of New York, representing America. Mlle. Detrieux will use a Farman biplane, Mrs. Martin a Grahame-White biplane, Mrs. Willard a Willard-Curtiss biplane designed by her husband, and Miss Quimby a Burgess-Wright biplane.

Students of aviation are interested in the performances of several types of foreign machines which will be seen at the meet for the first time in this country. Among them are the Gnome-Bleriot of Cummings, the Morane monoplane of Vedrines, the Nieuports of Weyman and Tabuteau, and the new type Santos-Dumont triplane, flown also by Tabuteau.

Adams D. Claflin, who is managing the meet, has introduced an innovation in the speed contest of the meet by having separate special events for monoplanes and biplanes. This, it is said, will go a long way toward determining the relative merits of the two classes of machines.

The full program of events, with the prizes follows:

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

DISCRIMINATING LADIES.

Enjoy Using Herpicide on Account of Its Distinctiveness.

The ladies who have used Newbro's Herpicide speak of it in the highest terms, for its quick effect in clearing the scalp of dandruff and also for its excellence as a general hair-dressing. It makes the scalp feel fresh and it is also that itching which dandruff will cause. Newbro's Herpicide effectively cures dandruff, as it destroys the germ that causes it. The same germ causes hair to fall out, and later baldness; in killing it, Herpicide stops falling hair and prevents baldness. It is also an ideal hair dressing, for it lends an aristocratic charm to the hair that is quite distinctive. Sold by leading druggists. Send the stamp for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

TARIFF REVISION THE MOST IMPORTANT MATTER

Senator Martin Says This Problem will be Most Important Before Regular Session of Congress--Thinks Democratic Position has Been Strengthened.

Special to Telegram.

Washington, Aug. 25.—Declaring that the Democratic party has strengthened itself before the country by demonstrating in Congress its attitude toward the tariff and other important legislation, Senator Thomas S. Martin of Virginia, leader of the Democrats of the Senate, today declared that tariff revision would be the most important business before Congress when it meets again in December.

President Taft's vetoes, he said, had only delayed relief to the consumer and the Democrats felt it their duty to resume the fight next winter.

Senator Martin said he could not now predict whether the Democrats and Insurgent Republicans of the Senate would be found voting together on the tariff next winter, but he made it plain that there are now no alliances between the Democratic side and either of the Republican factions. But he said that so far as he knew there was no ill feeling between the Insurgent Republicans and the Democrats because of the vote on the cotton bill in the Senate.

"The Insurgent Republicans," said Mr. Martin, "understand that the Democrats had no other course open to them but to support the Underwood cotton bill, as passed by the Democratic House. We would have united with the Insurgents to pass the La Follette substitute had the Democratic bill defeated in the Senate, because the La Follette bill, although not what the Democrats wanted, sought to make important reductions in the tariff rates, and half a loaf is better than none."

"I deny emphatically that there was any agreement between the Democrats and the Regular Republicans by which the latter were to abstain from voting on the Democratic cotton bill. Insurgent leaders have told me since the vote on the bill that they realized there was no other course open for the Democrats than to support their own bill."

"All three political elements of the Senate will have their program for tariff revision in the regular session next December. By that time we are promised a report from the Tariff Board, and the President undoubtedly will recommend tariff legislation of some sort. In the alignment in the Senate much will depend on the report of the Tariff Board and the reductions it recommends. If its recommendations are for big reductions, I doubt if many of the stand-pat Republicans will support the recommendations. This would tend to line up the Democrats and the Republican Insurgents again."

Senator Martin said he was highly pleased with the Democratic record during the extra session.

The Regular Republicans do not anticipate much actual tariff revision at the coming session, by reason of the wide divergence of opinion in the Senate. They contend that failure is likely to follow attempts to bring together either the Regular and Progressive Republicans or the latter and the Democrats. Neither the Democrats nor the Progressive Republicans, whose alliance swept revision legislation through the Senate, until the combination was broken on the cotton bill, are willing to predict a renewal of that alliance in December.

The Regular Republicans have expressed the fear that the Tariff Board's recommendations may be too radical for their acceptance. They contend that most of the measures resulting from a Progressive Republican-Democratic alliance are likely to fail in conference, on the ground that the Democrats desire to fight the next national campaign on the Payne-Aldrich tariff law.

The Regulars also depend on the Presidential veto to put a quietus on any measure that would be satisfactory to Democrats and Insurgents.

TO FORCE REBELS TO QUIT.

Mexico To Hold Federals in Disturbed District Meanwhile.

Mexico City, Aug. 25.—Order will be re-established in the State of Morales before the Federal troops are withdrawn. They have been ordered to occupy the various towns now held by the Zapatistas. General Ambrosio Figueroa has been instructed to march his men northward from the Guerrero State line and rurales now in the State of Vera Cruz will be brought into the affected district.

This is an outline of the policy the Federal government will follow in dealing with Emiliano Zapata and his rebels in Morales, as determined upon by President de la Barra's Cabinet in special session today.

Madero's intimations that General Huerta treacherously moved forward his column are regarded as unfounded and little attention is paid in official circles to his suggestion that General Bernardo Reyes is conspiring with the army of officials to bring about unnecessary strife. The imputation is indignantly received by General Reyes.

Madero sent a telegram to President de la Barra tonight, stating that he had arranged for a resumption of the mustering out of Zapata's forces.

MRS. "SUNSET" COX DEAD.

End Comes to Widow of Senator Cox After Long Illness.

After an illness of more than three months, Mrs. S. S. Cox, widow of the famous statesman "Sunset" Cox, and herself prominent in benevolent work, died at her home, 1408 New Hampshire avenue northwest, at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. She was 82 years old.

The story of Mrs. Cox's life is woven with that of her distinguished husband. During his life she took an active interest in the reforms he established, tending to better the condition of civil employees.

She married him when he was graduated from Brown University and from the Putnam Seminary of Zanesville in 1849. Soon thereafter he became editor of the Columbus, Ohio, Statesman. Later he was appointed secretary to the Peruvian Legation. From that time, through his long and bitter political fights which resulted in his being elected as Congressman from Ohio and later from New York, Mrs. Cox was his ally and aide.

When Mrs. Cox died September 10, 1889, his widow carried on the plans he had begun. Her husband established the Life Saving Service, and had gained a fund of $906,000 for the betterment of the lumber carriers of the country. He also created better conditions for members of the railway mail service.

Mrs. Cox kept constantly in touch with the heads of all three of these organizations and contributed liberally to all plans brought to her for their betterment.

She maintained two homes, one in this city and one in New York. Her sister, Mrs. Hardenburg, accompanied her on her trips from one city to the other. They were inseparable companions during the latter years of Mrs. Cox's life.—Washington Post.

FEET OF FRENCH AND GERMAN WOMEN CAUSE CONTROVERSY

Special to Telegram.

Berlin, Aug. 25.—A statement in a French newspaper to the effect that the women of Paris possess the smallest feet in the world has caused a controversy between France and Germany, which makes the Morocco dispute feeble by comparison. The assertion has occasioned an immense amount of heart-burning in Berlin, where writers to the newspapers declare that such a sweeping assertion is likely to cause grave injury to the reputation of German women.

The feet of a Parisienne are in proportion to her body, which is not small, says one writer. He is convinced that the German women in many districts have smaller feet in proportion to their bodies than French women. This champion of his country's fair sex also adds that German women do not encase their feet in instruments of torture in order to look smart, as do the Parisiennes.

According to another writer an excessively small foot is not beautiful and he concluded that, without doubt, German women are more beautiful than French women, and especially Parisiennes.

The basis of an agreement has been proposed by one German disputant. While contesting the assertion that the women of Paris have the smallest feet in the world, he admits that they are so admirably shod that they appear to have the smallest feet.

WOMAN TO BECOME PROFESSIONAL DIVER

Special to Telegram.

Paris, Aug. 25.—There is no stemming the tide of feminism and women, anxious to be on a footing with men, are taking up occupations which have by their very nature been considered exclusive to the male sex. The latest novelty in this direction is a lady diver, the wife of a man following the same pursuit, who has been excited to emulation by watching her husband descending into the dark depths of the sea around the harbor of Havre.

Pierre Cannellac, a diver of twelve years' standing, who has been attached to Havre for two years, had been under the water for half an hour at a diving bridge in Havre docks, when he came up for rest, and found that his wife, who had awaited him, wished to attempt a descent. Donning his weighty costume she climbed steadily down the ladder. When she came up she gave a detailed report of what she had found by examining the harbor's bed, and she now says her work was so successful that she is going to seek a permanent appointment as diver.

FINE SHIP WILL CONVEY ENGLISH SOVEREIGNS TO INDIAN DURBAR

Special to Telegram.

Greenock, Aug. 25.—The work of fitting out the new P. and O. steamer Madian, which will convey the King and Queen to India for the coronation durbar has proceeded so rapidly and satisfactorily that the vessel will be ready to leave the Clyde about the middle of next month.

When finally completed the Madian will be a Buckingham Palace at sea. Not only will their Majesties live their simple home life on board, but they will also transact business of State precisely as if they were in London.

With this object the Madian is to be fitted with a very powerful wireless installation, so that the King will be in almost immediate touch with all his ministers during the whole of his trip to Bombay.

Rear Admiral Sir Colin Keppel will be in command of the Madian, the navigating officer being Commander G. N. Toulmin, of the battleship London.

Earliest Cold Storage. In Macaulay's essay on "Lord Bacon," he points out that in 1626 the subject of his memoir tried the experiment of stuffing a fowl with snow to prevent it from putrefying, and in carrying out the work caught cold from which he died. Macaulay adds: "In the last letter that he ever wrote, with fingers which, as he said, could not steadily hold a pen, he did not omit to mention that the experiment of the snow had succeeded excellently well." If, however, we turn to nature there are instances in Siberia of mammoths preserved in ice so that their flesh is still edible from a period probably coeval with the first appearance of man on this globe. If the Romans brought to their banquets the dainties of all the known world, had they not some knowledge of cold storage?

The Use of the Broom. Few people handle a broom properly, although accustomed to its use every day of their lives. Always draw your broom by leaning it forward, because this allows the dirt to be moved along more gently and will not raise much dust. Most sweepers thrust the broom ahead of them in a sort of digging way, with the handle toward the sweeper. This breaks the broom, wears out the carpet, flirts up dust and makes the sweeping much more laborious.

RIGHT TO CHANGE MIND LEGAL.

Woman Offered to Forgive Her Husband, and Then Sued Him.

New York, Aug. 25.—In granting Mrs. Jacob Hausman a separation from her husband, Justice Greenbaum today ruled that a woman who had left her husband and sued him for a separation and later changed her mind and offered to return to him, only to be repulsed by the husband, had grounds for separation and a right to sue for non-support. The Hausmans were married in 1905, and separated three years later. Mrs. Hausman's first suit for separation was dismissed by Justice McCall. A year ago Mrs. Hausman made overtures for a reconciliation. Hausman declined and she brought proceedings before Justice Greenbaum and won.

Most sweepers thrust the broom ahead of them in a sort of digging way, with the handle toward the sweeper. This breaks the broom, wears out the carpet, flirts up dust and makes the sweeping much more laborious.

The worm isn't the only thing that will turn when it is trodden upon. There's the banana skin, for instance.

PAUL BEATTIE ON WITNESS STAND TODAY

Chesterfield Court House, Va., Aug. 25.—Paul Beattie was the last witness called in the Beattie case today. He will probably be on the stand all day and also tomorrow. Hill Carter, one of the attorneys for Henry Clay Beattie, announced today that his client would go on the witness stand as a last resort.

Damaging Testimony Against Beattie. Chesterfield Court House, Va., Aug. 25.—Hill Carter cross-examined Detective Jarrell today and scored by making Jarrell admit that Beattie's alleged encounter with the murderer was behind the automobile.

Major James D. Patton, of the State penitentiary board, was next called and told of the story Beattie told him of the murder when the bloodhounds were trying to pick up the trail, as did W. W. Sydnor, deputy sheriff, the next witness. Sidnor also testified of the exact position Beattie occupied in the car when he was carrying his wife to his uncle's house. "I asked Beattie's father how it was that if the charge was fired from the right side of the car it could have struck his wife in the left side of the face. I did not hear an answer." Sydnor proved to be the strongest witness for the prosecution yet, put on the stand. Mandy Alexander, the negro who found the gun, was called and testified to that fact. Jerry Reynolds, also colored, was the next witness.

(Copyright, 1910, by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.) Judah Carried Captive to Babylon. Jer. xxxix.

Golden Text—Be sure your sin will find you out. Num. xxxii:23.

(1.) Verses 1-2—When a historian gives the day, the month, and the year an event took place, and associates his facts with some other well-known fact, how much weight does that give to the credibility of his story?

(2.) How long did the siege of Jerusalem last before the city was captured?

(3.) What were the chief means by which the city was taken? (See 2 Kings xxv:3.)

(4.) Verse 3—What was the real reason for the downfall of Judah and the capture of Jerusalem?

(5.) When a nation gives itself up to a life of sin how much risk is there in prophesying its downfall, unless it repents?

(6.) If the "princes" of the soul memory, conscience, will power, and the reverence of God, forsake their position at the gate of the citadel, what other princes are certain to take their places?

(7.) Verse 4—Sinners are generally very brave when in health and prosperity, but when trouble, or death, stares them in the face what generally happens?

(8.) Was there a time, and when, that Zedekiah could have taken such steps as would have kept him on his throne and made himself and people prosperous and happy? (See 2 Chron. xxxvi:11-13.)

(9.) What is the Golden Text for today, and what is the proof that sin will finally destroy happiness and true prosperity?

(10.) Verse 5—Zedekiah fled from the enemy out was overtaken; when does the time come in the life of a sinner when his habits have become like his shadow, which he cannot outrun?

(11.) Verses 6-7—What had been the crime against Nebuchadnezzar of which Zedekiah was guilty? What would be the penalty of a similar crime to-day?

(12.) What was Zedekiah's sin against God, and that of the other bad kings of Judah who had preceded him?

(13.) What was Zedekiah's punishment?

(14.) See Jer. liv:3; Ezek. xli:12, where the fate of Zedekiah is foretold, and compare with v.7 and point out a striking fulfillment and explanation of apparently contradictory prophecy.

(15.) Verse 8—Why is it in God's moral government that the innocent often have to suffer, as well as the guilty?

(16.) Verses 9-10—What class of people did they carry away to Babylon and what class allow to remain in Judah?

(17.) What part of a man's nature does sin destroy, and what part does it leave?

(18.) Verses 11-14—What did the king of Babylon do for Jeremiah, and what is generally the final lot of a man of God?

(19.) Verse 15—What good had Ebed-melech done to be so signally favored of God? (See Jer. xxxviii:7-13.)

(20.) What reason is there to think that God never forgets a good deed done to one of his children? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Lesson for Sunday, Sept. 3rd, 1911. Review.

Dr. Robert Stewart said that heart failure was the cause of death, and that her exercise had been too strenuous for the last few months.

"BOSSSES" HIM ON WAY TO WED, SO HE QUILTS.

Pair, Engaged in an Hour After Meeting, Become Estranged in a Day. Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Aug. 25.—Never having met until yesterday, when they suddenly fell in love and decided to get married, Daniel Crumley, 41 years old, of Askam, and Bess Bridget Boyle, 45, of Swoyersville, got a marriage license here today. Half an hour afterward they returned it, said they were not going to get married and asked for the return of the license money.

"We were on our way to the ministers," explained Crumley, "when we had an argument, and she began bossing me as if I was already her husband. Now, I can't stand bossing, and when she kept it up I just made up my mind that I was not going to take any chances of hearing it for the rest of my life. The marriage is all off."

They were told they could not get the license money back. "Well, it's all off, anyway," exclaimed Crumley, and tore up the license.

Miss Boyle was still arguing with him when they left.

They met accidentally yesterday at the home of Crumley's brother-in-law, at Swoyersville, discovered neither had been married and an hour afterward were engaged.

For several months Miss Boyle had been a daily player and yesterday she was on the links until late in the afternoon when she went home and went to bed early.

Her mother says the servants were instructed not to call her, and that it was almost noon today when one of the maid servants discovered that she was dead.

How oft the sight of means to do ill deeds. Make deeds ill done! —Shakespeare.

IF THERE WERE NO PARTICULAR MEN

THERE'D BE NO TAILORS—WOULD THERE?

Consider it. DEMAND creates supply—in the Art Crafts and Professions.

There are tailors because some people insist on having made for themselves clothes. What sort of people are they who thus assure the calling of the good tailor, and make him an important man in his community? Careless dressers, do you suppose—or CAREFUL ones?

And as for YOU—do you belong to the class of people who insist upon good tailoring, or to the class of people who would make good tailoring a lost art?

HOW TRAVELLERS ARE LABELED IN FRANCE

Special to Telegram.

Paris, Aug. 25.—The manner in which the traveler has his character written on his luggage for the benefit of porters and hotel employes is described in the Matin. Little scratches on the bags are made after the traveler has given a "tip," and these marks are understood by all porters and other employes.

A horizontal line on the right hand top corner of the bag means that the owner gives very small "tips" and should be boycotted when possible. A diagonal scratch on the lower left-hand corner signifies "exacting and disagreeable." A cross in the lower right-hand corner means "exacting but generous," and a small vertical mark near the lock "very generous." A curved mark on the left-hand upper corner signifies, "inexperienced, has not traveled much."

TO EXILE FOREIGN EDITORS.

Wholesale Exodus Ordered by Cuban Government.

Havana, Aug. 25.—Unless the Government changes its program a wholesale enforced exodus of foreign journalists is certain. An ultimatum to this effect was followed by even more bitter attacks upon the Gomez administration. The fugitive editors of the Spanish anarchist paper, La Tierra, will be deported as soon as they are captured, according to Government Secretary Machado. It is believed the ultimatum is also aimed at several American editors who in attacking Gomez have advocated annexation of Cuba to the United States.

Interstate Highway To Be Constructed.

Greenville, S. C., Aug. 25.—Work will be begun on the Greenville-Hendersonville highway on the first of October, this according to an announcement made by Supervisor G. W. Justice of Henderson county. That part of the road that is to be built by Henderson county extends from Hendersonville to the Greenville county line. The road authorities of the North Carolina county have been at work on this part of the road for some time but only a short part of it has been worked at all. The plan now before the Henderson authorities is to complete the road to the Greenville county line by the beginning of the next summer season.

the morning session tomorrow to be devoted to hearing motions and signing judgments.

The plaintiff in the case of A. L. Holloway vs. Erwin Cotton Mills has taken an appeal. The plaintiff was seeking to recover damages to the amount of $25,000 because of injuries received while in the employ of the defendant and the jury decided with the defendant.

Judge Allen set aside the verdict in the case of Pugh vs. Wrenn, in which the plaintiff was given damages to the amount of $2,025. The court held that this amount was excessive.

"I'm afraid my wife picked out the wrong hotel,"

"Too expensive?"

"Oh, no; but it's going to be hard to make expenses. There's a lot of other bridge sharps there besides herself."

FINAL JURY CASE IN SUPERIOR COURT

In Superior Court today the case of Thompson vs. Revolution Cotton Mills occupied the entire time and the case will not go to the jury before late in the afternoon. The evidence was concluded shortly after court convened and the argument begun. Several speeches were made and Judge Allen did not begin his charge to the jury until after three o'clock. The suit is to recover $5,000 damages because of injuries received by the plaintiff while in the employ of the defendant.

This is the last jury trial of the term.

NOT REAL "MONA LISA"

Paris Paper Says Original Was Stolen In 1910.

Paris, Aug. 25.—The Cride Paris today says that Leonardo da Vinci's "Mona Lisa," missing from the Louvre, was actually stolen in June, 1910, and that it is now in New York in the collection of a millionaire Jew. According to the newspaper, the picture stolen on Tuesday was a copy substituted by the original thieves.

CURE FOR HAY FEVER

Dr. Edwards Used Much-Favored Pollen As Remedy.

Pittsburgh, Aug. 25.—Hay fever, according to Dr. James F. Edwards, superintendent of the Pittsburgh Bureau of Infectious Diseases, is the result of dust particles and pollen from plants and flowers that are carried on autumnal breezes. From this same pollen he has invented a hay fever anti-toxin or serum called "Pollentin." It is injected into the blood and is calculated to stop all the ailments incident to hay fever.

SHIPS OF WAR GATHER

FOR THE WAR GAME

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 25.—The battleships Missouri, Mississippi and Maine from Philadelphia passed in the Virginia Capes early today and later dropped anchor with other vessels of the Atlantic fleet that are now rendezvousing in Hampton Roads preparatory to the elaborate war game maneuvers soon to begin off this coast. The latest arrivals were followed in the capes by the hospital ship Solace which likewise proceeded to Hampton Roads.

The warships attracted great attention in Hampton Roads last night and are adding much to the beauty of the roadstead where they lie at anchor. The search lights and signaling of the ships at night will be watched with much interest by residents on both sides of Hampton Roads so long as the vessels remain.

First Visit in Years.

R. A. Boone, son of the late ex-Sheriff C. A. Boone, who left Guilford county in 1872, since which time he has been living in Indianapolis, Ind., arrived in the city this morning to spend ten days with relatives and friends, and to attend the annual reunion of the Boone family on Aug. 30, at the old homestead, east of the city. This is Mr. Boone's first visit to Greensboro since 1872 and naturally he hardly knew where he was at when he stepped from the train.

"DRYS" POUR $3,000 IN RUM INTO SEWERS.

Celebrate Victory in Indiana Election by Raiding "Blind Tigers."

Linton, Ind., Aug. 25.—The people of this place voted to have a dry town, and yesterday they celebrated their first real victory over the wets by raiding three drug stores which had been closed by the arrest of the proprietors for running "blind tigers."

Sixteen hundred bottles of beer and 1,000 half-pint bottles of whiskey were emptied into the sewer. Two fifty-gallon barrels of gin were also relieved of their contents. It is estimated that $3,000 worth of "wet" goods was destroyed.

Curtiss Dittmore and Noah George, proprietors of drug stores, who were fined $50 each and sentenced to jail for thirty days, have made an agreement with the officials, including members of the State Board of Pharmacy, by which the jail sentences were suspended, on condition that they would go out of business.

75 PER CENT. OF THE BIG ADVERTISERS OF AMERICA PREFER EVENING NEWSPAPERS

Out of 400 Large Department Stores 302 say they Prefer Evening Papers and Give Reasons Why

(FROM THE LOS ANGELES RECORD)

OUT of 400 letters sent to the large Department Stores of America asking which they considered a better medium for advertising, a morning or an evening daily newspaper, 392 replied. Of these replies 302 stated they preferred the evening newspaper for advertising; 26 stated they gave the evening paper first copy when they used an evening and a morning paper. As the Department Stores are always the largest advertisers in their respective cities and are in a position to see where the results come from, their opinions, formed from experience, are most valuable. They all speak most emphatically of the advantages of the evening paper over the morning paper for advertising. Of these 302 advertisers who prefer the evening paper a large number of them use the evening paper exclusively and find the returns most profitable.

THE following statements made by the different large firms of America show why they prefer the evening paper over the morning paper:

ST. LOUIS, MO.—The evening paper is best, as it is the one that gets into the homes and stays there. Men carry the morning paper downtown on their way to work in most cases.—Wm. Barr Dry Goods Co.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—The evening paper undoubtedly is the best advertising medium, because it most surely gets into the very hands toward which all department store advertising is intended—the women of the house—and because then there is plenty of time to read, plan and digest.—Loveman, Joseph & Loeb.

CHICAGO, ILL.—We spend $325,000 a year and 75 per cent of it is in the evening papers and 25 per cent in Sunday papers. Even with our great morning papers we cannot make them pay, though the experimenting has cost us $100,000.—Siegel, Cooper & Co.

EVANSVILLE, IND.—We prefer the evening paper for advertising because the housekeeper, business man and working man have more time to go through the paper in detail after the day's work is over and have time to plan their next day's shopping. Our experience is that we get quicker and more direct results from the evening paper.—Fowler, Dick & Walker.

BOSTON, MASS.—We consider the evening paper the best medium, because it is taken home and the women get to see it.—Henry Siegel Company.

BRIDGEPORT, CONN.—We consider the evening newspaper better, because we cater to the working people, and they are employed from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m. and their only leisure time is in the evening, and they invariably take only evening papers, and have more time to read advertisements.—Cline Bros.

ALBANY, N. Y.—We consider the evening newspaper a better medium for advertising, because women have more time and better opportunity to read the evening papers.—Waldman Bros.

AKRON, OHIO.—We consider an evening paper a superior medium. The evening paper goes direct to the homes and is more thoroughly read. It is read by men after business duties are through for the day and they are more liable to remember the advertising. The morning paper is used by office men.—C. H. Leager & Co.

MILWAUKEE, WIS.—We consider the evening paper the best advertising medium, as the average woman does not take time to read a paper until her work is done.—Ed Schuster & Co.

DETROIT, MICH.—We prefer the evening paper.—Partridge & Blackwell.

CINCINNATI, OHIO.—Best results from evening newspapers. The only time I use a morning paper is Sunday for Monday's business. Balance of the week the evening papers do the work to my entire satisfaction.—The Fair.

LOUISVILLE, KY.—We use afternoon papers exclusively during the week. Morning papers on Sunday only.—John C. Lewis Company.

ST. LOUIS, MO.—For advertisements containing items of special prominence likely to produce a rush, the evening newspaper serves as a better advertising medium, first, because people as a rule, have more time to read an evening paper thoroughly and note the contents thereof; second, it gives an opportunity to shoppers to select what items they contemplate purchasing and allows them time to prepare a program for the next day's shopping.—Burgin Dry Goods Company.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—We prefer the evening paper week days and the morning paper Sundays only, because the evening paper is brought to the home by the member of the family who goes to business and buys and reads the paper on his way home. The Sunday paper is delivered at the home and read in the home.—Price & Rosenbaum.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—We consider the evening paper the better medium for advertising, mainly because the evening paper goes into the home and stays there when there is time for the whole family to read and consider.—Frederick Losser & Co.

ST. PAUL, MINN.—We have always given the evening paper the preference. We spend $40,000 a year for advertising and this all goes into newspapers. We use no other medium of any kind, as we consider ANYTHING OUTSIDE OF THE NEWSPAPER as money wasted.—W. H. Elsing & Co.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—We consider the evening paper better as a general thing, for it is usually the home paper.—Caldendar, McAuslin — Troup Co.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.—The evening paper is, in our opinion, most profitable for advertising.—The Wm. H. Block Company.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—We do most of our advertising in the evening paper.—Wm. Henerer Co.

BOSTON, MASS.—We prefer the evening paper by all means, because it goes into the homes directly, while the morning paper has a tendency to work back into the business section and does not reach the homes in such relative number as the evening paper.—Houghton & Dutton.

ST. PAUL, MINN.—Where I've been, almost without exception, the evening paper is the best medium.—W. H. Milligan, Advertising Manager Field, Schlick & Co.

CLEVELAND, OHIO.—The evening paper by all means.—The Bailey Company.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—It is our opinion that the evening paper is better, as the shopper is prepared to sail forth the next morning.—Penny & Gentles.

SHALL NATIONAL BANKS OWN OTHER ENTERPRISES

This Question is up to President Taft—Attorney General and Secretary MacVeagh Cannot Reach Settlement—Papers go to President.

Washington, Aug. 25.—President Taft's expert advisers are once more unable to agree. It was not long ago that he had to decide what constituted whisky after a strenuous departmental conflict. Now he must pass on the question whether the government, under the terms of the National Bank act, can permit national banks to own interests in other banking institutions. Attorney General Wickersham and Secretary MacVeagh have disagreed on the question, which was raised by the attorney general's investigation of the relations of the National City Bank of New York to the National City Company. As a result all the papers in the case were sent to the President at Beverly today.

That President Taft would review the case developed suddenly today as Secretary MacVeagh was ready to make public the attorney general's findings and his own decision. For that reason he declined to give any intimation of his position, and it is known that nearly all his advisers feel that if any definite attitude toward the extension of the influence of national banks into trust companies and security companies were announced at this time the whole question of financial legislation might be entangled when it comes up at the next session of Congress with the Monetary Commission's report.

The issue to be decided was raised by Mr. Wickersham, first in the case of the National City Securities Company of New York, a corporation organized under the laws of that State by stockholders of the National City Bank of New York. Mr. Wickersham is understood to have held that the corporation was in the nature of a holding company for the bank, and was doing a business forbidden to a national bank. The indirect connection between the two concerns was the basis of the attorney general's action. In its defense, the New York bank pointed out that the Continental and Commercial National Bank and the First National Bank of Chicago, had alliances with savings and trust companies, organized under State laws. The Chicago bankers, in reply, pointed out that their allied institutions were for banking purposes only, and were subject to examination by any State bank examiner, which was not true in the case of the allied concerns of the New York bank.

Mr. Wickersham's findings deal directly with the reported holdings by the National City Bank of other bank stock through the medium of the National City Company. The question of the interest of national banks and trust companies arose as a consequence of these findings, and attention was directed to the case of the holdings of the Continental-Commercial National Bank of Chicago, in the Continental and Commercial Trust Company. Secretary MacVeagh was chairman of the board of that bank before he entered the cabinet.

Attorney General Wickersham takes the position that concentration of banking capital might take place if national banks were allowed to acquire the stocks of other banking institutions. The Treasury Department for ten years, however, has been tacitly approving such relationships, with certain limitations, in order that the national institutions might meet the competition of State banks, which usually operate under very liberal provisions.

Aside from the question of public policy Secretary MacVeagh's advisers, it is said, believe no provision of the National Bank act has been violated. They take this position, however, without regard to whether further legislation is desirable bearing upon the cases under consideration.

Whole World Is Alarmed at Report of Illness of Pope

POPE PIUS X. has recently been extremely ill, and the eyes of the civilized world have been centered on Rome. As the head of a church numbering more than 200,000,000 followers the pope is a world figure of importance. Pope Pius X. was chosen as successor to Pope Leo XIII. in 1903. He was Cardinal Sarto and had been patriarch of Venice for several years. He came of peasant stock and much of his life had been spent as the priest of a village church. He carried his simple ideas and manner of living with him when he became a cardinal and has remained the same simple, earnest, hardworking man since his elevation to the papacy. He was born June 2, 1835. He was sincere in not wishing to become the head of the church, and when he left Venice to go to Rome, where the College of Cardinals assembled, he had no idea that the choice would fall on him, and he bought a round trip ticket. He has not left the Vatican since he entered it to assist in choosing a successor to Pope Leo XIII.

The Concord Situation is Still Serious. Concord, Aug. 25.—The water situation continues to cause much concern here. It is said that there never has been a time in the history of the city when a few days that a woman rolled a baby carriage up Buffalo creek from the railroad bridge at the depot to the Gibson Mill, a distance of about one mile, without getting wet at all. It is only here and there that little pools of water may be seen standing and the actual source of the streams are about to dry up. Thousands of looms and scores of thousands of spindles are standing idle for want of power to drive them. Some of the mills that use primary power from the Southern Power Company can get power sufficient to run their machinery, but are unable to obtain a supply of water sufficient to operate their finishing and dyeing plants. The Cannon, Young-Hartell, Brown, Franklin, Cabarrus and the Locke system of mills are all idle, and it is reported that they will not resume operations until rain relieves the situation. Only the Gibson and the Brander mills are running. So far it has not been necessary to cut off the supply in the city, but every precaution is being taken to prevent a useless waste of the precious fluid.

REMOVE BOOTY ON HAND CAR.

Trio of Youthful Robbers Fire on Police, But are Captured. Washington, Pa., Aug. 25.—Local policemen today intercepted Richard Colton, Frank Garland and Edward Reid, all under 20, as the trio was propelling a handcar with valuable booty on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, on the eastern outskirts of the town.

The officers on the lookout for thieves who had robbed a big store at Wyland, eight miles east of here, last night, endeavored to stop the handcar and the occupants opened fire. The officers returned the fire, drove the three from the car and succeeded in capturing all of them. The loot, estimated to be worth close to $2,000, was later identified by John H. Laird, owner of the store. When confronted with the identification the boys confessed. All three will be sentenced tomorrow.

Fighting the Plague.

Special Telegram. Berlin, Aug. 25.—The Austrian Ministry of the Interior at Vienna has given instructions to the provincial authorities forbidding the import transit and the export of second-hand clothing or rags from Trieste.

Up to now twenty-six cases of cholera have occurred in Trieste. All travelers from Trieste are to be carefully reported and kept under observation by the police.

His Verdict

Young Samuel Seymour was a new member of the club and a comparative stranger in the neighborhood. As he and his friend Sexton stood watching the dancers young Seymour said: "I saw you bow to that vivacious girl in pink. I wish you would introduce me. She has the most delightful lip I ever heard on mortal lips."

"I'll be glad to introduce you, my boy," said young Sexton. "Miss Marsh is as delightful as her lip. But let me hasten to warn you never to let your feelings carry you so far as to make any mention in her presence of her soft s's. You see before you a stricken being. I once had hopes in that direction myself, but long ago I had to resign them, and all because in an unlucky moment I spoke out of the fullness of my heart of her charming lip."

"Miss Marsh looked as surprised and offended as if I had accused her of a theft and then she said: 'Why, Mithter Thekthton, I therrtainly do not lithp. I would not be thought to lithp for all the world. Only affected people lithp.'"

"Well, I was afraid that I saw my finish right there, but I hastened to apologize. I explained to her that it was not exactly a lip and that I should have called it merely a delightful little peculiarity of speech that was all her own. I particularly insisted that it was thoroughly charming, whatever it was. She was very gracious, but the mischief had been done. I soon discovered that she was never quite comfortable in my presence and, in fact, was inclined to be silent and shy. So it has come about that now we have merely a formal acquaintance."

"Behold my magnanimity!" went on young Sexton. "It doesn't seem fair that you should profit by my hard experience, but since I have lost her I suppose it doesn't matter who wins: so, come with me and show me how well you can profit by my coaching." They found Miss Marsh in a chattering group, and young Sexton asked the privilege of presenting his friend, Mr. Seymour. Miss Marsh smiled and showed a row of dimples. "I am the happy to know you, Mithter Theymour," she said. "Don't you think we are having a beautiful dath? It th given by our thorrity, and we think the ddecorathions are skthquiththit."

Both young men heartily agreed with her, in a manner which showed their conviction that she herself was one of the most decorative of the decorations.

"No, Mr. Theymour," proceeded Miss Marsh, "Mr. Thekton and I differ on a therrtain thubject and I know you will be an impartial judge, becauth you are not accuthomted to my manner of thpeech and would be thure to notth any peculiarity—a lithp, for thenth. You know, if I thought I lithped, I should take a vow of ettherral thilthenth, for I think lithping th the motht thane and thilly thait one could have."

Young Seymour smiled at her as he replied: "Miss Marsh, I am sorry to say that George is given to dreaming, and this is surely one of his dreams. You lithp? Well, I should say not."

"I knew you would delthide in my thavor," said Miss Marsh, with a happy countenance. "For an impartial judge would have to."

After a month of delightful acquaintance with Miss Marsh young Seymour could not have told if she lithped, stammered, or was tongue tied. So wholly charming had he found her that he would not have asked the slightest change in her if she had manifested all three peculiarities—such a thing were possible!

He had become her shadow and she bubbled over with happiness and effervescence with laughter and showered soft s's upon him until he became hopelessly enmeshed.

When the engagement had been announced and the wedding day set, she said to him one day in a burst of confidence: "Dear Tham, I am going to tell you a therrret. You know that I tell you a therrret. Mr. Thekton thought I lithped. And I am thure on reathon I loved you from the first, wath that you did not think I lithped. I could never be happy with a man who thought I lithped."

"No one but an idiot would ever say you lithped," answered truthful young Seymour. "Forget what silly people have said just to tease you. If you should lithp only a little I would be sure to notice it."

"Of course I'll do ath you thath, Tham," she replied, happily.

ENGLAND DEPENDING ON COLONIES FOR FOODSTUFFS SUPPLIES

Special to Telegram.

London, Aug. 25.—That Britain is depending in an ever increasing degree on its own dependencies for foodstuffs instead of relying to such a large extent on foreign countries is emphasized in a report issued by the Board of Agriculture on the supplies of agricultural produce in the period 1901-'10, and the previous decade.

The average yearly importation of wheat was larger by 24,000,000 cwt. in 1901-'10 than in 1891-1900, and nearly seven-eighths of the increase came from within the Empire.

The average total imports of wheat (including flour) from foreign countries declined from 232 lbs. to 197 lbs. per head, while those from British possessions increased from 43 to 95 lbs. per head. Beef imports increased from 9½ lbs. to 15 lbs. per head of population, and in this case the whole increase came from outside the Empire. On the other hand, while imports of mutton from foreign countries increased from 3 to 4½ lbs. per head, those from British possessions increased from 5 to 6½ lbs. per head.

The import of pork from foreign countries fell from 17½ to 16 lbs. a head, but from British possessions it rose from 1½ to 2½ lbs. per head of population. The supply of butter from foreign countries rose from 7 to 8½ lbs. per head, and from British possessions it increased from 1 to just 2 lbs. per head.

Of cheese, the average foreign supply was in 1901-'10 only 1½ lbs. per head, as compared with 3 lbs. in the previous decade, while from British possessions it rose from 3 to 3½ lbs. in 1891-1900 to 5 lbs. per head in 1901-'10.

HORNETS DROVE
MORRISEY FROM BOXTook Yesterday's Game
Seven to Two—One
Sided Affair.

After Morrissey had been touched for 13 safeties and the Hornets had made 7 runs, the Deacon was yanked from the box, or left on his own accord—which it was doesn't matter, for the game was already lost and it was like locking the stable door after the horse was gone.

The final result of yesterday's game between Greensboro and Charlotte was 7 and 2, the team from the Queen City having the larger figure.

Charity forbids a detailed account of the tragedy. Morrissey simply had nothing and the Hornets got his hits just whenever they needed or wanted them. In the seventh frame after three hits and two runs had come in this inning, Hauser came to the mound and allowed one hit and no more runs during the two and a fraction innings he pitched.

For the visitors Siegfried, Wofford, McMillan, Weiser and Coutts did the most of the hitting but every man on the team got one or more hits. Clapp and Carroll did the best work at the bat for the locals. In the fielding there was little that was spectacular until the very last event of the day, when Weiser made a pretty scoop catch of Carroll's fly to center, which was the third out in the ninth.

The seams teams will play here again today and tomorrow.

LAST GAME ON LOCAL DIAMOND
ON SATURDAY

Tomorrow's game with Charlotte may be the last game of the season in Greensboro. For this reason there ought to be a large attendance. An effort was made to get the Spartanburg and Anderson games here, but the negotiations have not been completed, and it is now probable that Greensboro will play away from home next week.

The Patriots have played a great season of baseball, and are still in prime condition. We should not be surprised if they were to take the whole series with Spartanburg and Anderson next week.

Charlotte and Greensboro teams are well matched and the games today and tomorrow will no doubt be full of interest for those who attend. Walters will pitch today and Eldridge tomorrow. Go out and "root for the home team."

Attack Like Tigers.

In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpuscles attack disease germs like tigers. But often germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then see pimples, boils, eczema, salt-rheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fail. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Loss of Time Means Loss of Pay.
Kidney trouble and the ills it breeds means lost time and lost pay to many a working man. M. Balent, 1214 Little Penna St., St. Paul, Minn., was so bad from kidney and bladder trouble that he could not work, but he says: "I took Foley Kidney Pills for only a short time and got entirely well, and was soon able to go back to work, and am feeling well and healthier than before." Foley Kidney Pills are tonic in action, quick in results—a good friend to the working man or woman who suffers from kidney ills. Howard Gardner.

Accused of Stealing.

E. E. Chamberlain, of Clinton, Me., boldly accuses Bucklen's Arnica Salve of stealing—the sting from burns or scalds—the pain from sores of all kinds—the distress from boils or piles. If "Bargain Hunting" Is Extravagance, Isn't It Strange That Bargain Hunters Can Always Afford It!

And haven't you noticed that, even if the family income is not at all great, the bargain hunting woman always seems to have the money with which to indulge her "extravagance?"

This fact should teach her critics something—perhaps teach them that the fixed habit of intelligent buying, based upon a persistent study of the ads, is a form of "extravagance" that should prevail in every home in the land!

JUNIORS CLOSE ANNUAL SESSION

Officers Installed Yesterday Afternoon --
Judge N. L. Eure State Vice Councillor.

Asheville, Aug. 25.—The twenty-first annual meeting of the Jr. O. U. A. M. State Council of North Carolina, adjourned yesterday following the installation of officers. The meeting here has been one of the most pleasant in the history of the order. There were approximately 500 delegates in attendance.

Among the interesting business matters attended to was the increase in pay of the secretary from $1,200 to $1,500 per year and the increase in pay of the State councillor from $250 to $500. The constitution and by-laws were amended in certain particulars. The council decided to appropriate $1,500 annually for publicity and organization purposes.

One of the most pleasant incidents of the entire meeting occurred when Prof. C. E. Brewer of Wake Forest College called the retiring State councillor, L. T. Hartsell of Concord, to the altar and, as a representative of a host of friends in the order, presented to Mr. Hartsell a magnificent chest of silver.

Mr. Hartsell in accepting the chest of silver replied feelingly: "Yesterday afternoon the members of the State council took a trolley ride over the principal lines of the Asheville Electric Company. The delegates have had a good time; the local councils have done everything in their power to make pleasant the stay of the visitors and that they have succeeded is evident by the many compliments bestowed upon the members of the local councils and the people of Asheville generally."

The session Wednesday night of the State Council was the most interesting that has been held, and, incidentally, the longest-drawn-out. The delegates were in almost constant session until nearly 3 o'clock yesterday morning when the last officer to be voted for was elected and Raleigh selected as the place of next meeting. During the early part of the evening the local councils conferred the three degrees; there was some other work and then came the election of officers. The selection of the State councillor, the vice councillor, secretary and treasurer was decided before midnight and then it is said that ballot after ballot was taken for other officers. The claims of four cities in North Carolina for the privilege of entertaining the next State council were submitted, including Wrightsville Beach, Morehead City, High Point and Raleigh. The State capital finally won out.

The complete list of officers elected for the ensuing year follows: U. M. Gilligan of Goldsboro, State Councillor; N. L. Eure of Greensboro, vice Councillor; Sam F. Vance of Winston-Salem, Secretary; George F. Fulp of Kernersville, Treasurer; Cloyd Pennel of Asheville, Assistant Recording Secretary; J. A. Fetzner of Reidsville, Conductor; S. P. Eagle of Statesville, Warden; R. L. Caviness of Carthage, Inside Sentinel; D. T. Perkins of Wilson, Outside Sentinel.

The reports submitted to the State Council show that the order in North Carolina is in a flourishing condition. The membership is now 26,722, a gain of 1,169 during the past year. There are 307 Councils in the State, while the property owned by the State Councils was shown to be $184,285.61. During the year a total of $252,288.42 was disbursed in benefits in the State and the balance in the treasury is now $12,167.22.

THAW INSISTS HE'S SANE.

Answer to Wife's Complaint Avers Perfect Mental Competence.

Pittsburgh, Aug. 25.—An answer was filed today by Harry K. Thaw, through his attorney, former Governor William A. Stone, to the petition of his wife, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, in which Judge L. L. Davis was asked to appoint a lunacy commission to take charge of the income of Thaw in this State, and provide for the support of the wife. Thaw's income is said to be $60,000 a year.

Thaw claims that the verdict of the jury in New York was not a finding that he was insane, and that the decree confining him in Mattewan was statutory entirely and not a proceeding as to the lunacy of Thaw. He claims that the fact that he is still confined in the Mattewan hospital under the order of the court, does not judicially or in any way establish his present insanity. The answer alleges that the petition asks the court to do what it has no authority to do. In the second part of the answer Thaw states:

"Your affiant is not at present insane. He is quite capable of attending to his own affairs, and does attend to his own affairs. He transacts his own business. If there was ever any derangement mentally, the affiant has entirely recovered from it now and is now in entire possession of his mental faculties."

matter of fact, although paying strict attention to what he said, deep in your hearts you felt that the speaker, so full of empty words of flattery, had in mind some other day when he would call upon you to return the compliment and by your vote make him your chosen leader in some political campaign. That type of public speaker is still abroad in the land. Beware of him.

"And every man here today has at some time in his life been forced by the same rules of common courtesy to listen to that other type of public speaker who seems to feel it his bounden duty to publicly mourn what he is pleased to think of as the benighted, ignorant condition of the farmers as a class in our complex citizenship, when as a matter of fact, although you paid strict attention to what he said, in your heart you felt and you knew that he was the most ignorant and most benighted man in the community. That type of public speaker is still abroad in the land. You would do well to pity him."

"I have not come here to flatter you."

"I have not come here to mourn over imaginary conditions, due to an alleged lack of educational advantages, which conditions do not exist. But on behalf of the business and professional men who make up our Chamber of Commerce and who recognize you as modern business men and who recognize in your organization, The Farmers' Union, one of the great interdependent business organizations of the time, I come to greet and welcome you to this industrial center of North Carolina."

"Your meeting here will mean much to us. And I trust your meeting here will mean much to you individually, and to your organization."

"For years the spirit of organization and co-operation has been growing in this country. Heretofore capital alone has availed itself of the vast advantages and great opportunities that are always born of concentrated effort and organization; and, as a result of capitals perfect organization, labor has been denied its inherited legal rights, until today, if I mistake not, the tobacco farmer of Virginia and North Carolina, from a financial viewpoint, is the poorest and hardest worked farmer we have."

"The tobacco capitalists are so well organized that I might say, with some degree of accuracy, that for the past ten years the moment a Virginia or North Carolina tobacco farmer set a tobacco plant, that moment the American Tobacco Company stamped upon the green leaf of the growing plant, the price to be paid for the cured product months ahead."

"And all because there has been no organization, and because of a lack of co-operation on the part of you fellows who plant the tobacco."

"The American Tobacco Company by its close organization has found itself able and willing to violate the moral as well as the statutory laws of the land and has engaged in its method of thievery and oppression while you tobacco farmers have worked on day in and day out, from sun up to sundown, and from sundown to sun up, with little thought of the fact that self-preservation is really the first law of nature."

"The doctors have organized. The lawyers have their organizations to discuss their grievances. The railroad men have their organizations. The merchants have organized. Practically every tradesman belongs to his union. So from the viewpoint of the business men of Greensboro, whose interests are so vitally connected with the interests of the farmer, your meeting here as the representatives of the tobacco farmers of Virginia and of North Carolina is altogether proper, altogether timely and altogether highly expedient. By organization comes safe counsel. The demagogue has no place and has no welcome here. I take it that in a meeting like this there ought not to be found, certainly there ought not to be heard, that man who would attempt to prostitute this organization to political ends and purposes. You are not a political organization. You have definite objects in view. There are definite ends to be reached as business men, just as much as the banker is a business man you have results to look after."

"The business men of Greensboro wish you well. They expect great things of you. They rely upon the final judgment of the sum total of that vast fund of common sense ever present in a meeting like this. We stand ready to co-operate with you in your every effort and in your determination to protect yourselves and your property, and at the same time violate neither the moral nor the criminal law as your oppressors have done for the past decade or more."

"Again I say your meeting here will do us good. And I trust your meeting here will do you good. We are glad to have you with us, and bid you a hearty welcome."

The presiding officer then introduced

Charles S. Barrett, National President, who made the response to the addresses. President Barrett is a fluent talker and he impressed his hearers with the fact that he was not in the habit of mincing words, but in a brief manner set forth the many reasons why the farmers appreciated the cordial welcome extended.

MYSTERIOUS SUICIDE OF M. R. WALKER STIRS WILMINGTON

Latest Theory is That Walker is Not Dead and it is Hinted That a Scheme to Collect Life Insurance Has Been Concocted—Body Not Yet Found.

Wilmington, Aug. 25.—With the arrival last evening of relatives from Burgaw, a determined search has begun in Banks Channel, Wrightsville Beach, for the body of M. R. Walker, the young man who is supposed to have shot himself with suicidal intent, midway the trestle across the channel Wednesday night, his body falling over into the swiftly moving stream at the crack of the revolver. During the day two young men made several trips about the sound in a boat in search of the body, but it was not until last night that any great effort was put forth to find the body.

It developed yesterday that Mr. Walker had his life insured for several thousand dollars, the figures being placed at $30,000 to $40,000. The insurance, or at least one policy, was first issued to the estate of Mr. Walker and assigned to J. A. Rowe, his brother-in-law. This policy is held with the Life Insurance Company of Virginia, and is for $10,000. Application for the insurance was made about December, 1909, and it was desired that J. A. Rowe be named as beneficiary. The company would not accept the insurance with Mr. Rowe named as beneficiary and application was then made making the insurance payable to the estate of the insured. The policy was issued on Jan. 16, 1910, and was in force at the time of the young man's death. Soon after it was issued it was assigned to Mr. Rowe, to whom payment of the amount will be made.

It was reported that there are at least two other policies, each for $10,000. One is reported to be with the New York Life and the other with the North State Mutual, Kinston. Application was made about a year ago to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company for $20,000 insurance. As the result of investigations the insurance was declined on the ground that the company did not consider it a safe risk. It is stated that at that time Walker carried insurance to the amount of $30,000. About the same time application was made to L. W. Moore, who was agent for the Equitable Life Insurance Company, for $20,000 insurance, and he likewise turned down the application, as he considered it too great a risk.

L. Turner and Mr. Rowe are said to have been near Walker at the time he shot himself. Just when Rowe and Turner came upon Mr. Walker is not quite clear. Mr. Turner having been quoted as making two different statements as to this and Mr. Rowe having not been heard at all on this point. Mr. Turner is said to have stated first that Walker, Rowe and himself were at Mr. Rowe's cottage on the hammocks and along about midnight walked out on the trestle to cool off, the night being rather warm and the sand flies bad; that soon after going upon the trestle Walker handed Mr. Rowe a letter, stating that it was a business letter he desired him to read; that Mr. Rowe stepped to an electric light a few feet away to read the letter and that Mr. Turner himself was looking in another direction, when a pistol was fired; that Mr. Turner did not look around in time to see Walker again, but Mr. Rowe turned just as the body fell into the water. Then Mr. Turner is said to have stated that Mr. Rowe, Guy S. McDaniels and himself went on the beach and took a car for the Hammocks, but the car did not stop and they went on over to Wrightsville Sound, where Mr. Rowe and himself left Mr. Daniels, who came on to the city. Then they went back on the next car and got off at the Hammocks, going immediately upon the trestle, where they found Walker, who appeared to be very despondent. As they walked up, Walker handed a letter to Mr. Rowe and asked him to read it. Mr. Turner is quoted as saying that as soon as Mr. Rowe was given the letter he went to a light to read it; that he himself sat down on the car track some ten feet away from Walker, who almost at that very moment shot himself. Mr. McDaniels stated that he was with Messrs. Rowe and

Chinese Children Learn English In San Francisco Sunday School

SAN FRANCISCO continues to be noted for the number of Chinese residents within the city. In spite of the rigid exclusion laws, the Chinese colony there is large, and it numbers several hundred children. The picture above shows a group of these almost eye young citizens, who belong to a Presbyterian Sunday school, where they are taught Christianity and also gain a knowledge of the English language and an idea of American history and geography. The children prove apt pupils, and they are regular in attendance, showing a lively interest in their studies.

Turner Wednesday night, going down with them from the city on the nine o'clock car; that he crossed the trestle coming back to the city at 11:15 o'clock; that he came on to the city and Messrs. Rowe and Turner were to have gone back to the Hammocks from the Sound and would have recrossed the trestle about 11:30 o'clock, 15 minutes after which time the suicide is said to have occurred. Mr. McDaniels said that he did not see Mr. Walker during the day or evening and, in fact, did not remember ever to have seen him.

There appears to have been a letter inside the letter which Mr. Walker gave to Mr. Rowe and which is said to have contained the statement that Walker, the writer, was tired of the life he had been living, that he preferred death to such life, and he was unworthy of the girl. The letter inclosed was one purporting to be from a young lady of Atkinson and was to Mr. Walker. According to one who read the letter, or a portion of it, as Mr. Rowe would not let him finish it, the writer reminded Mr. Walker of his promise to marry her, etc. One person said that the letter bearing the signature of Walker was not in Walker's hand writing. The letters were shown to Assistant Chief of Police C. W. Woolard by Mr. Rowe early yesterday morning, but he did not read them carefully and therefore does not even remember the substance of them.

ROBBED OF CLOTHES ON THEIR HONEYMOON.

Bridal Pair in a Predicament, But Make the Best of It.

Indianapolis, Aug. 25.—Just how essential clothes are on a honeymoon trip was discovered by Mr. and Mrs. O. Reid, of Sanford, Ky., newly married at the Union station, when they found that every bit of apparel belonging to them, except what they had on, was stolen.

After an hour's fruitless search they decided not to let the lack of clothes interfere with their trip and boarded a train for Detroit.

Reid searched through the station with his wife about two feet behind him. It was futile. Then the tears gathered in the eyes of the bride.

"There, there," Reid soothed. "Don't cry. It's two minutes until our train leaves and we're going on just the same. We'll get along somehow without any clothes."

Mrs. Brewer's Funeral.

The funeral of Mrs. Emily Brewer, whose death occurred yesterday morning at the home of her son, W. D. Brewer, North Greene street, was held today from Lee's Chapel, the interment following in the family burying ground at that place. The services were conducted by Rev. G. F. Milloway, of Winston-Salem.
